

HomeField Alliance

Triviva

House Rules

- 1. Break into teams of 2/3, and in breakout rooms, select a team name, and a captain!*
- 2. Share contact information, you'll need this to communicate in the final round.*

Run of Show

- 1. Three write in rounds of trivia where you'll have 3 minutes to answer 7 questions.
Each worth 1 point.*
- 2. Final round, you'll have two minutes is one question and is worth as many points as you'd can generate.*

Categories

01

Queer Sports
Icons

02

Queering the Numbers

03

This Week
Sport Business

04

Pride Nights

1

This icon not only won 39 Grand Slam titles but also became the first female athlete to own a professional sports team when she bought a share of the Los Angeles Dodgers in 2018.

2

This icon made history by becoming the first active NFL player to come out as gay, played for the Cleveland Browns, Tampa Bay Buccaneers, and Las Vegas Raiders during his career.

3

This icon has 160 USWNT caps to her name, appearing in the last 4 World Cups, and is known for being an extremely versatile player, lining up at Wingback, Fullback, Winger and Centreback.

4

This young icon has made headlines breaking the world record in the 100-meter sprint, showcasing her incredible speed and talent on the track, and making her a favorite for the event in the 2024 Olympics.

5

This icon known for inventing the high five, played for the Oakland A's and was celebrated for his remarkable sportsmanship and being an upstanding teammate during his baseball career.

6

This icon in 2015 earned a spot on the Team USA sprint duathlon men's team for the 2016 World Championship, making him the first known out trans athlete to join a U.S. national team.

7

This icon, a two-time WNBA champion with the Minnesota Lynx, retired after 10 seasons in 2019 and in a groundbreaking move, became a co-owner of the Atlanta Dream, making history in both her playing and ownership roles in the WNBA.

Answers

1. Billie Jean King
2. Carl Nassib
3. Kelley O'Hara
4. Sha'carri Richardson
5. Glenn Burke
6. Chris Mosier
7. Renee Montgomery

1

In what year did the Chicago Cubs host what many consider, “the first Pride night in professional sports.”

2

Megan Rapinoe is one of the most dominant and iconic USWNT mainstays has scored this many goals in International appearances.

3

Michael Sam, a unanimous All-American and the Southeastern Conference (SEC) Defensive Player of the Year as a senior at Missouri, wore this number during his time in Columbia.

4

In 2019 Minor League Baseball hosted the “largest Pride campaign in professional sports,” how many different clubs hosted Pride nights that year?

5

Gareth Thomas is a Welsh former professional rugby union and rugby league player, who represented Wales in both codes. He received Stonewall's Hero of the Year Award and voted the most influential gay person in the UK when he came out famously in this year.

6

Rick Welts, an executive and advisor to the Golden State Warriors and trailblazer for queer folks in sports has won this many NBA Champions throughout his career.

7

According to OutSports, the 2022 Winter Olympic Games in Beijing saw more than double the amount of out Queer athletes competing from 2018 with a total of this many out athletes.

Answers

1. 2001
2. 63
3. 52
4. 70
5. 2009
6. 4
7. 36

1

This General Manager set precedent when she became the first Woman GM in MLB, and surprisingly she declined her option this week despite a playoff run and success leading many to believe she's interested in other openings.

2

The 12 NWSL clubs are worth a total of $796 million, according to data compiled by Sportico. This team ranks first in valuation at $180 million.

3

Announced this week, LSU Basketball star Angel Reese, became this brands first long term name, image and likeness partnership.

4

This new streaming platform from NBC is billing itself as the first of its kind to focus on streaming youth sports.

5

Caitlin Clark and the Iowa Hawkeyes set a record this week setting a new attendance record as the team played DePaul in an exhibition game in front of 55,646 fans at this college football stadium.

6

Netflix, like other streamers, is eager to get into live sports. The streaming giant announced a new competition set on the Las Vegas Strip where they'll compete in this sport.

7

Pop culture researchers analyzed the Instagram accounts of the Chiefs, the NFL, and Travis Kelce to see how their followings rose on average this season. It found that the Chiefs gain an average of this many fans every time Taylor Swift attends a game.

Answers

- 1. Kim Ng
- 2. Angel City FC
- 3. Reebok
- 4. SportsEngine Play
- 5. Kinnick Stadium
- 6. Golf
- 7. 18,000

The Chicago Cubs in 2001 were the first professional sports team to host a Pride night, doing so 2 years before the first state, Massachusetts, legalized gay marriage.

Name as many players as you can from the 2001 Chicago Cubs.

